Father Henry Willis in 1855 (SS Wesley), 1900, Willis III 1933

- Présentation

Ian Tracey, city organist, 2014

Orchestra dell'Arte chanel

The Organ in St Georges Hall was built by Father Henry Willis in 1855, both Cavaille-Coll and William Hill also submitted bids, but the Willis firm in consultation with Dr S. S. Wesley won out. Dr Wesley did have some odd ideas, namely discarding equal temperament and insisting on 63 note manuals! The Organ was later tuned to equal temperament in 1867. The instrument contained 108 stops and 8,000 pipes, and was blessed with the very talented W T Best as organist. Sadly Best began to berate Willis at every opportunity and the two fell out. The organ was rebuilt in 1900 and again in 1930 by Willis III. The instrument lost the huge mixtures from the Great but gained mutation stops, a large 7 rank Grand Chorus in the Solo, as well as a pedal 32' Bombarde & Tuba Mirabilis on 30".

After suffering bomb damage in december 1940, the organ was dismantled and stored in the basement until Willis was asked to reassemble it in 1954. It was working again in 1957 under the care of Dr Caleb Jarvis the City Organist. Staged repairs were begun in 1976 and have continued on and off ever since. The instrument now desperately requires attention and some money has been found for remedial work, but still needs at least £500,000 to bring it back to working condition. In its current state it has 120 stops and 7,737 pipes.

W. T. Best fut le premier organiste de cet orgue le plus grand du monde à l'époque. Il jouait principalement des transcriptions qu'il effectuait lui-même des pièces symphoniques lors de ses concerts.

Charles Villiers Stanford (1852-1924) Fantasia & Toccata

Written in 1898, Stanford's Fantasia & Toccata is perhaps our finest Romantic British organ work. As professor of composition at the Royal College of Music he taught two former Temple Church Organists, Henry Walford Davies and George Thalben-Ball.

William Lloyd Webber (1914-1982) Prelude on Rockingham

While musically conservative, William Lloyd Webber's work is as remarkable for its sincerity and charm as for its utter competence. Organist of All Saints, Margaret Street at the time of the Second World War and later of Methodist Central Hall, Westminster, Lloyd Webber composed many religious works including this prelude on Rockingham, the tune most often sung to the hymn When I survey the wondrous cross. Lloyd Webber's sons Andrew and Julian have both achieved huge fame, respectively as composer and cellist.

Portsea St Mary's Church

The Organ Project: Organ Recital Series 2021 –

Brian Moles -

Brian Moles is the Organist and Director of Music at St Mary's Church, Portsea. His work as an accompanist covers a variety of fields: from classical to popular – performing both as a soloist, and an accompanist, through to forming and leading bands in shows for theatre in a variety of different genres. As an organist and recitalist he is often in demand: most recently playing at Portsmouth, Durham and Bristol Cathedrals. As a composer he is in demand, recently having had a work premiered at Peel Cathedral on the Isle of Man for their 40th anniversary of the consecration in November 2020.

Felix Mendelssohn (1809-47) Sonata No. 6 in D minor

Herbert Howells (1892-1983) Paeon (1940)

Herbert Howells composed his Six Pieces in 1940. During the Second World War he served as acting organist of St John's College, Cambridge; he dedicated these pieces to the organist of his home cathedral of Gloucester, Herbert Sumsion. No. 6 is a vigorous toccata; after a more subdued middle section, the opening energy returns, crowned by a blast on the tuba.

John Joubert (1927-2019) Old 100th

John Joubert was commissioned to write Six Short Preludes on English Hymn-Tunes for chamber organ as composer-in-residence of the 1990 Peterborough Festival, where they were first performed by Nicholas Danby. He finishes the set with All people that on earth do dwell. In contrast to Vaughan Williams' grand choral setting, this one is mostly soft and gentle, although with a crescendo to full organ (here, all three stops of it) and back.

Louis Vierne (1870-1937) Final (Symphony No. 6 in B minor)

Truro cathedral

Henry Willis, 1887, Henry Willis 1963, NP Mander 1991 (parfait état orginél)

The Father Willis Organ is one of three organs at Truro Cathedral. Delivered by boat and installed in 1887, it has an almost identical specification to the organ Henry Willis built a year earlier for the then parish church of St Michael, Coventry (later Coventry Cathedral). In terms of specification, both instruments revealed standard Willis hallmarks – tierce mixtures on Great and Swell, characterful gedackts on the cathedral choir, and a small but telling pedal division.

Windsor Castle St George Chapel

The Funeral procession and service for His Royal Highness The Duke of Edinburgh (1921 – 2021), 17 avril 2021.

Music before the service

- Schmucke dich, o liebe Seele BWV 654 - Johann Sebastian Bach (1685-1750)
- Adagio espressivo (Sonata in A minor) - Sir William Harris (1883-1973)
- Salix (The Plymouth Suite) - Percy Whitlock (1903-1946)
- Berceuse (Op 31 No. 19) - Louis Vierne (1870-1937)
- Rhosymedre (Three Preludes founded on Welsh Hymn Tunes) - Ralph Vaughan Williams (1872-1958)

The musicians

During the service, a choir of four singers, three of whom are lay clerks of St George's Chapel choir, will be conducted by James Vivian.

The organ will be played by Luke Bond, assistant director of music at St George's Chapel.

The funeral party arrives

Members of the Royal Family and relatives of the Duke of Edinburgh arrive at the Galilee Porch and are conducted to the Dean's Cloister.

They are then conducted from the Dean's Cloister to the Galilee Porch to view the procession and await the arrival of the Queen.

The Queen is received at the Galilee Porch by the Dean of Windsor, who conducts Her Majesty, members of the Royal Family and members of the Duke of Edinburgh's family, who have been viewing the procession, to their seats in the Quire.

One-minute national silence

All stand as the coffin is removed from the Land Rover and is carried to the West Steps where it rests at 15:00 for the one-minute national silence.

The coffin is then carried to a platform called a catafalque in the Quire.

The sentences

I am the resurrection and the life, saith the Lord: he that believeth in me, though he were dead, yet shall he live: and whosoever liveth and believeth in me shall never die. John 11. 25-26

I know that my redeemer liveth, and that he shall stand at the latter day upon the earth: and though after my skin worms destroy this body, yet in my flesh shall I see God: Whom I shall see for myself, and mine eyes shall behold, and not another. Job 19. 25-27

We brought nothing into this world, and it is certain we can carry nothing out. The Lord gave, and the Lord hath taken away; blessed be the name of the Lord. 1 Timothy 6. 7, Job 1. 21
William Croft (1678-1727)

The bidding

The Dean of Windsor says the bidding.

"We are here today in St George's Chapel to commit into the hands of God the soul of his servant Prince Philip, Duke of Edinburgh.

"With grateful hearts, we remember the many ways in which his long life has been a blessing to us.

"We have been inspired by his unwavering loyalty to our Queen, by his service to the Nation and the Commonwealth, by his courage, fortitude and faith.

"Our lives have been enriched through the challenges that he has set us, the encouragement that he has given us, his kindness, humour and humanity.

"We therefore pray that God will give us grace to follow his example, and that, with our brother Philip, at the last, we shall know the joys of life eternal."

Hymns and prayers

All sit as the choir sing Melita by J B Dykes (1823-76) William Whiting (1825-78) arranged by James Vivian (b. 1974)

The first lesson Ecclesiasticus 43. 11-26 is read by the Dean of Windsor.

All remain seated as the choir sings the Jubilate by Benjamin Britten (1913-76), in C, written for St George's Chapel, Windsor, at the request of the Duke of Edinburgh.

All remain seated for the second lesson, John 11. 21-27 read by the Archbishop of Canterbury.

All remain seated as the choir sings Psalm 104, which the Duke of Edinburgh requested should be set to music by William Lovelady. Originally composed as a cantata in three movements, it was first sung in honour of the duke's 75th birthday.

The choir sings the Lesser Litany and sit or kneel for the Lord's Prayer and responses.

The Dean of Windsor and the Archbishop of Canterbury lead a number of prayers.

The choir sings the Anthem, Russian Kontakion of the Departed, translated by William John Birkbeck (1859-1916) Kiev Melody, arranged by Sir Walter Parratt, KCVO (1841-1924)

All stand as the coffin is lowered into the Royal Vault, the Dean of Windsor shall say the commendation.
